"To every thing there is a season

a time to every purpose."

And the hour runs from dawn to set of sun across the years and pages of my book and brings to me awareness. Youth's innocence replaced by truth gives life a new perspective. But in this endless plan, time stops the movement of the clock and for one dateless hour bids me . . . remember.

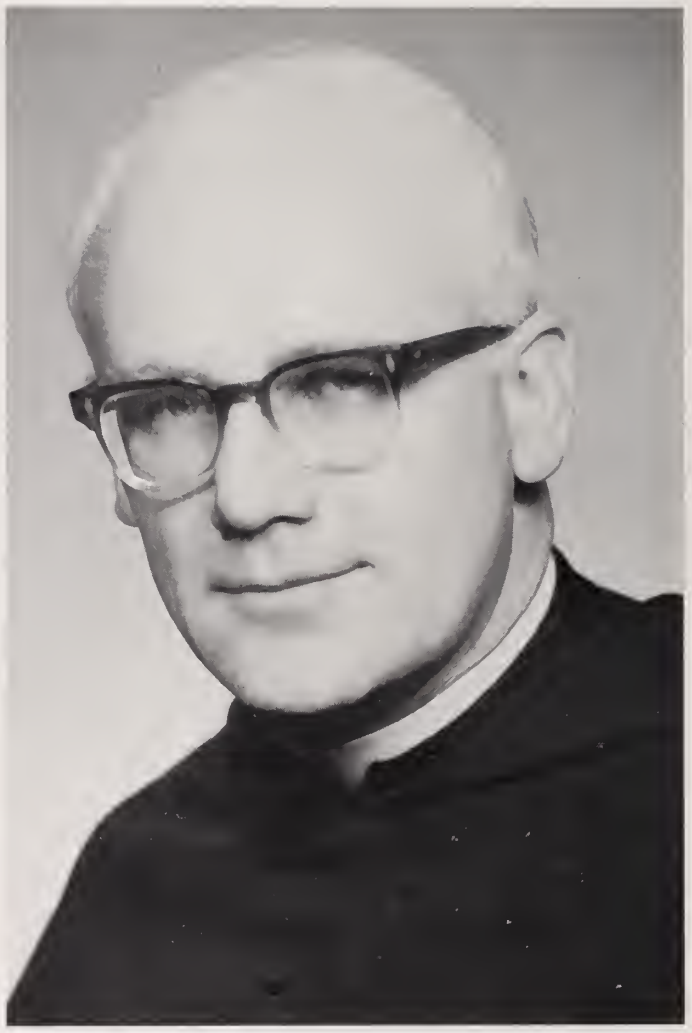
FACULTY

The moment is mine . . . given significance by the men and women who have regulated my unsteady count into a rhythmic beat. Their fundamental words pervade my thoughts and attain greater value in their implications. The wisdom they impart enlightens my private interests and endeavors with the glow of understanding. Not one but all have exerted the effort to instill in me the spirit of knowledge, with their patience, concern, and guiding hands . . . in this their time to act and serve the future hour.

President

As President of Merrimack College, the Very Reverend Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., has distinguished himself greatly in the administration and in the designing of the future of the college. Acting as an inspiration to students and faculty alike, his able policies have fostered academic growth at Merrimack College to the attainment of heretofore unknown heights. This guidance has resulted in an educational landmark which is a monument to this man. A vital, growing symbol of his achievements, the entire college lives in gratitude to his unselfish devotion.



Prior of the Monastery of Our Lady of Good Counsel at Merrimack College, Reverend John M. Driscoll, O.S.A., has fulfilled his office wisely. The Augustinian Fathers at Austin Hall reflect his able guidance through their close adherence to his splendid example. The priests and students of Merrimack College sincerely apprcciate his interest and enthusiasm.

Prior

Vice-President

As an intermediary between the faculty and the executive board of Merrimack College, the Vice President, Reverend John Aherne, O.S.A.. demonstrates a resolute control over the academic operations of the college. As assistant to the President, Fr. Aherne has skillfully adapted his personal insight and knowledge to the problems of both the faculty and the students, and through this is able to execute the requirements of his office. The students offer him their sincerest gratitude for his persistent exertion on their behalf.

Board of Trustees

The success of any educational institution ultimately depends upon the decisions of its administrators. The physical and academic growth of Merrimack College is, to a great extent, attributable to the efforts of the Board of Trustees. The duties of this board are many and difficult. For the perseverance and prudence they have displayed in supervising the administrative policies of Merrimack College, we extend to them our gratitude.

From left to right: Rev. Vincent A. McQuade. O.S.A.: Rev. Paul M. Judson, O.S.A.; Rev. Edward J. Carney. O.S.A.; Rev. John J. Daley, O.S.A.; Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A. (R.I.P.); Rev. Thomas F. Walsh, O.S.A., and Rev. Patrick J. Rice, O.S.A.

Richard Cardinal Cushing has earned worldwide respect as an outstanding leader of the Church. He has given a deeper appreciation of charity and perservcrance to all. Aware of a need to advance Catholic College education in America, he stands as the motivating force which brought Merrimack College into existence. Through his boundless effort and generosity, and under his continuing guidance, this institution has become a recognized leader in American college education.

Administrators

The Very Reverend James A. Donellon, O.S.A., A.B., M.S., Ph.D., is Prior Provincial of the Province of St. Thomas of Villanova, an office to which he was elected by qualified members of the Province. His numerous duties for which he is directly responsible to the Vatican include maintaining the parishes and seminaries in the Eastern Province. Father Donellon serves Merrimack College by presiding as Chairman of its Board of Trustess, an especially difficult task in the formulative years of our institution.

. . . and the little bear said, "Somebody's been eating my porridge."

Top photo: It says "Even a child can operate." . . . but how do you open the can?

Bottom photo: Not quite Doc, two more inches to the right and three down and you'll have it.

Have you tried that new tooth paste called "Pucker?"

Right: I brush only once a day, but I use Clorox.

Dear Mr. Hogan, You have been elected the eleventh best dressed man of the year.

Go all the way back, you didn't say "May I?"

Smile Yvonne, we're on Candid Camera.

The germinal years . . . every second a memory to be recalled, every minute an hour of nostalgia. "The Collegiate Church of Christ the Teacher" . . . "Mr. Sophomore, Sir" . . . that first registration . . . those first exams . . . that first "A." . . . "My modifiers are not dangling!" . . . "Did he say Harbrace rule 32A or B?" . . .

III

But tensions relax . . . congenial hours of the Hello-Hop and Orientation dances foster new friendships and give roots. Goal, basket, birdie . . . curtain call, deadlie, harmony. Time tolls the passing of beanies, buttons, and Kangaroo Court . . . a day- seemed a year, a year but a day.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

And time tocks of meaningful moments . . . of heads bowed in prayer, of voices in song, of men who have guided us through decisive situations. And it tolls of enthusiasm . . . harnessed in beanies and buttons . . . of raucous club meetings . . . and the excitement of class elections.

I linger upon these hours shared mapping out ideas, new programs . . . striving toward common goals with the important people, my friends. Time held me fast and let me play in those golden days of which the everlasting clocks now chime remember.

Merrimackan

The enthusiasm displayed by all those connected with the Merrimackan is a fine indication of the excellent participation in extracurricular activities which so characterizes the Class of 1964. The staff attained a high degree of willingness and cooperation in putting forth this year's book which is believed to be one of the finest annuals in this area.

The smiling faces of this year's staff demonstrate the satisfaction which comes with the completion of a year's work. Such problems as activities, sports, captions, and senior pictures have absorbed the time and talent of the students. We thank them and would also like to acknowledge the donation of long hours at the typewriter by the young ladies from the Secretarial Science department.

Editor-in-chief Mike Twomey, aided by his co-business managers Joe Chamberlain and Tom Doyle, studies the financial aspects of this year's book. It appears that we will once again finish in the black, I hope!

Joe Chamberlain, one of our astute business managers, dictates some facts and figures to one of our hard-working secretaries, Judy Sullivan. We hope the figures balance, Joe!

Milli, Eileen and Paul seem to be holding some kind of summit conference. Milli must be using the "hot line" direct to the photographer while Paul and Eileen are seriously considering some changes in strategy.

Warrior

The hard-working staff of the Warrior must handle such divergent areas as news, circulation, sports, advertising, features, copy reading and typing. Students interested in journalism are drawn to the Warrior as a source of actual experience in the newspaper field and the benefits derived are of inestimable value.

News editor Thea Kielt types out a "hot" news flash just received from Photography editor Bob Regan. Such up to the minute, incisive reporting keeps the student body of Merrimack College well informed.

Dennis Gendron, mild mannered editor of this great scholastic weekly, receives a distress call from his girl Friday, Thea Kielt, who's in trouble at the Snack Bar. He'll fly to the rescue after a quick change.

The Warrior Editorial Board is composed of such hard-hitting reporters as Terry Samway who gives the snow depths in northern Maine; Arab Fred Haddad, the Near East trouble shooter; Bob Regan of Home Flowers and Gardening, and Diane Theberge and Thea Kielt who handle the gossip and "Dear Abby" columns for editor Dennis Gendron.

The students of Merrimack College can be seen every Friday noon gathering in the cafeteria in eager anticipation of the release of The Warrior. This is considered to be one of the very best college newspapers available and the students would be "lost" without it. Much credit is due editor Dennis Gendron and his fine staff who have made it possible to publish The Warrior weekly, a task once considered impossible on the Merrimack campus.

Penman Club

Self-expression is not a quality that is developed spontaneously but must be carefully guided and directed to achieve its perfection. Under the capable assistance of Mrs. Ground, the Penman Club of Merrimack College offers students who are interested in creative writing the opportunity to express themselves in poetry and prose and to receive helpful criticism concerning their manuscripts from other club members.

The informal atmosphere of Penman Club meetings allows for free self-expression and acceptance of helpful criticism among its aspiring young writers.

Literary Club

The Literary Club offers an opportunity to listen to recorded poetry and drama and to attend plays and musical features to students who are interested in developing an appreciation for these facets of our cultural heritage.

The Carillon is the literary magazine of Merrimack College whose contents display poetry, essays, short stories and drama solicited from students in every major field from English to Engineering. The group works in close affiliation with Mrs. Ground, its moderator, to assure that the magazine will have representations from every point of view so that it will continue to be well received and highly esteemed on campus.

Carillon

Carillon editor Les LaFreniere edits a short story submitted for this year's publication with some guiding assistance from Milli Matasso, last year's editor.

Student Councilors Dick Sabourin, Eileen Jennings, Jack Heslin. Stitch Tardif and Liz Strasser check some of the important papers which are always kept on file for future reference.

The officers of the Council guide the destinies of the student government. This year's officers. Treasurer Bill Lyons, Chairman Brian Slowey, Secretary Nancy Galland, and Vice Chairman Bill Condon, seem to be trying to decide just how they will judge the Snow Sculpture contest.

The Student Council since its inception, which coincides with the school's founding, has been the voice of the students in the administration of the college. The council has many important duties to perform, not the least of which is to run the Autumn Interlude, always a gala affair. Through the efforts of the student councilors, the opinions of the student body reach the ears of the administration.

Student Council

Phi Kappa Theta

The P.K.T. officers take time out from their busy schedules for a quick picture. Sergeant at arms Gino Rozzi is the fraternity peacemaker; Treasurer Wes Thornton never has change but is always well dressed; President Joe Healey rules with an iron hand and a warm heart; Vice-President Ed O'Leary just got in from basketball practice and Secretary Steve Harvey never makes a mistake in counting votes.

Phi Kappa Theta is a national, Catholic social fraternity with over sixty active chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada. On the Merrimack campus Phi Kappa Theta is very active in all fields of activity, including sports, services to the college, services to the surrounding communities and even in the donation of blood to local hospitals. The men of Phi Kappa Theta were proud to count among their brothers the late President John F. Kennedy.

Sigma Beta Kappa, Merrimack's oldest national social fraternity, is dedicated to the development of true Christian gentlemen. With a threefold purpose of social, service, and spiritual, Sigma Beta Kappa serves the college as the official welcoming committee and as the host for many of Merrimack's social events. Biannually, Sigma Beta Kappa offers all men of Merrimack an opportunity to inquire into and participate in a judiciously planned pledge period designed to "instill a strong sense of Christian morality founded on Catholic principles and heritages." The oath of allegiance is an oath for life.

Sigma Beta Kappa

Choral Society

The Choral Society attracts to its folds those who possess extraordinary vocal talent. Under the capable direction of Father Thomas Walsh the society has fast become one of the best traveling representatives of Merrimack College, spreading our name not only throughout Massachusets but also throughout several other states. The two chief events on the society's busy slate are the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert.

Father Walsh, moderator of the Choral Society, lets Larry Collopy know exactly what the "score" is. Father always seems to bring out the best in his singers.

On-Stagers

The On-Stagers provides all the would-be Thespians on the Merrimack campus with a chance to display their talents before the students, their families and friends. The On-Stagers annually present two major productions, one in the fall and the other in the spring. They also present a number of one-act plays and the like. This year's fall play, Playboy of the Western World, was postponed from its opening on November 22 because of the death of President Kennedy. It did, however, play to a large audience February 14-16. The spring selection is Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

In a scene from one of the recent productions, Paul Hart, a capable police officer, talks to two of the younger actors drafted into service for the play. Paul, a veteran actor, has starred in several other productions.

As the old adage insists, "practice makes perfect." The cast is no exception to the rule. Rehearsals make up an integral part of the behind the scenes work and they provide the catalyst for the fine plays which the On-Stagers are noted for.

Pat Freni seems to be quizzical of the angry glare he is receiving from Yvonne LaChapelle during a recent performance. Such fine acting as this is only typical of that exhibited by all of the On-Stagers.

Accounting Club

The Accounting Society under President Ray Mitchell devote their education to the study of the "numbers game." Other notable officers such as Wendy Baldwin and Joe Graziano often sponsor field trips to observe accounting exercises in Somerville's Ball Square and other places of like note.

Business Club

Under moderator James Liebke, the Business Club tries to provide the student with practical solutions to the complex problems of modern day business. President Tom Doyle often discusses the advantages and disadvantages of the current trends in the chicken-plucking industry with his cohorts.

Caducean Club

The Caducean Club, which has the dubious fortune of having for its members those students who are Biology majors or who have an interest in the biological sciences, Seniors included, is one of the finest clubs on campus. Under the guiding hand of President Steve Hart and his fellow officers, and spearheaded by the inimitable seniors, the club always manages to delve into many intriguing and controversial areas and to keep Sullivan Hall in a constant state of apprehension.

Benzene Ring

The cheerful faces of the members of the Benzene Ring denote their strong desire to enter into the realm of chemical research. Under the guidance of Dr. Leone, President John Synott and the dynamic, verbose, "write-in" Vice President Paul Hoar, the group has conducted many lectures and studies, the most interesting of which was the investigation of L. Gulose and other related sugars.

Engineering Institute

The entire laboratory of the Electrical Engineers has been wired for sound by the budding young socket-pluggers. The members of the Institute try their very best to keep their wires crossed and their powder dry. Some of the most intricate pieces of apparatus can be seen in the basement of Sullivan Hall and the amazing thing is that they know how to use them.

Civil Engineering Club

With the dropping of plumb-bobs and the surveying of Austin Hall, the Civil Engineers usually herald the coming of Spring just as the first robins looking for worms. Armed with slide rules and T-squares, the club members demonstrate to the campus the advantages of engineering to Merrimack and the world.

Epsilon Delta Society

$X^2 + Y^2 = Z^2$ may not be a proper greeting for most people but to the members of the Epsilon Delta Society it indicates the epitome of comradeship. Prodding into the magical areas of modern math, the society renounces some of the old school giants and concentrates on such things as computers, etc.

Physics Society

The Physics Society, with its moderator, Dr. Charles Ahonen, is very proud of its affiliation with the American Institute of Physics. Field trips, films and lectures are provided in order to foster in the students a greater knowledge and appreciation of physics.

Secretarial Science Club

Both students and faculty alike owe debts of gratitude to the Secretarial Science Club for their valuable assistance in the typing and mimeographing of all kinds of tests, bulletins and lists. Besides providing these services, the secretaries also aid the school building fund with the proceeds of their annual fashion show.

The education of our nation's youth and the molding of their minds rests in the hands of our school teachers. The Aegidians are kept informed of the latest educational techniques by guest lecturers in all fields of education. We should be proud of the future teachers which we are training at Merrimack College.

Aegidians

Sociological Society

Composed of students interested in the study of the behavioral sciences, the Sociological Society finds Merrimack a wonderful area for investigation. The campus is full of all types of specimens, from the "charmingly naive" to the extremely "Mickey Mouse." The members of the society spend much time in the library furthering their knowledge of all topics from Mead to Malinowski.

Never one to be stereotyped, the eminent Mr. Paul Shea shows his versatility by catching up on the latest Geological news. If he incorporates it into his lectures then the Sociology majors will really have rocks in their heads.

Sodality

The Sodality of Our Lady of Good Council is an organization which gives its members a chance to know and practice what they believe through spiritual readings at weekly meetings and through daily Mass. The Sodality permits its members to cultivate a true love, devotion and reverence to the mother of God. Each member has the true satisfaction of helping himself and of helping others as well.

Sanctuary Society

An organization dedicated to the religious aspects of Merrimack College is the Sanctuary Society. The young men in this group always make the effort to serve Mass daily in the Collegiate Chapel even though it involves rising at an early hour. Under the capable direction of President Bill Mahoney the society endeavors to accentuate student participation in religious affairs.

Riding Club

With the slap of leather, the thundering of hooves and a hearty "watch your cinch," the Riding Club of Merrimack College makes its initial appearance this year. Though by no means as fearsome as the "charge of the light brigade," this group does present an awesome sight when staging a Seventh Cavalry attack down the primrose paths of the Andover Riding Academy.

P.A.C.E. Society

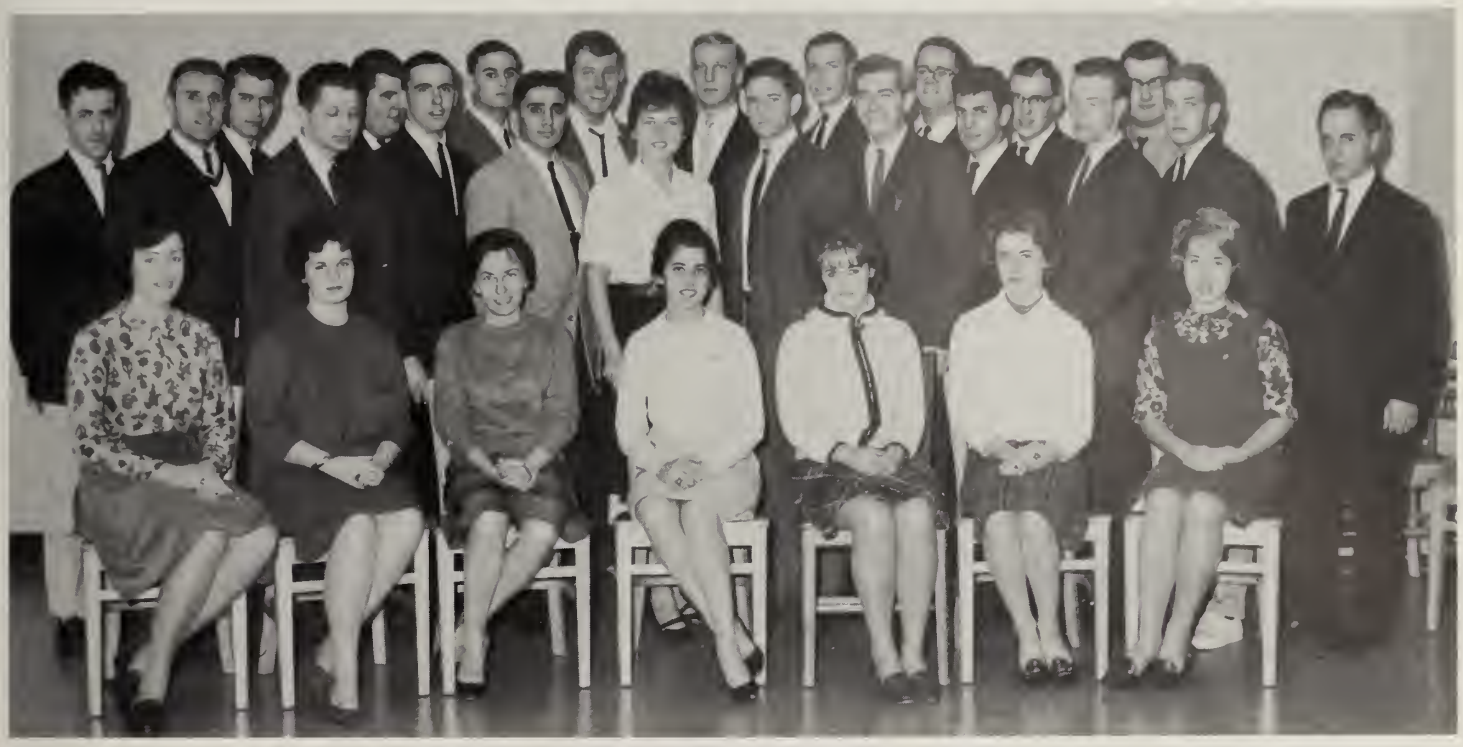
Stumbling over the rocky hills of Merrimack College and of New England, the P.A.C.E. Society does its utmost to instill the physical fitness idea into the minds of the "softy" students. President Larry Smialek, the big pacer, imbues the society with the courage to cross infested swamps and cling to treacherous mountains.

The Cheerleaders take time out from a recent game to pose for our cameraman. Their amazing spirit is a credit to them and to the college. Even when the game is not going our way, we can always count on the cheerleaders to bolster our spirits.

Wearing the blue and gold spangles of Merrimack College these young ladies present an eye-catching, zesty spectacle to the fans. They help instill in the followers of the sports' teams a rabid enthusiasm for college athletics both by audio and visual means.

Cheerleaders

Radio Club



Acting as the "Radio Free Europe" of the College, this bastian of truth regularly broadcasts the latest news, drama, sports, prose and poetry to the student body. The studio is located on the third floor of Tagastan Hall and the lighted "on the air" sign is a familiar sight to every student. The club always presents the very latest in good music since it possesses a wide selection of top albums.

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats exists in order to stimulate in young people an active interest in government affairs and to foster and perpetuate the ideals and principles of the Democratic party. To accomplish this purpose, the Young Democrats Club of Merrimack College sponsors both on-campus speakers and movies. Recently the club took a tour of the State House.

Ski-mers

Supporters of the schussing and slushing techniques, the Ski-Mers can usually be seen at the end of a trail of herring-bone marks anywhere on the Merrimack campus or at Boston Hill. Neither steep inclines nor broken bones can keep these hearty souls from the winter madness epitomized by the Austrians. With the fall of the first snowflake they can be seen waxing furiously all over the campus.

Frank Romano demonstrates some of the technique which any student can learn as a member of the Ski-Mers.

Dormitory Council

Putting their firm trust in President June Zottola, the officers of the Women's Dormitory Council work in close collaboration with both the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women in ironing out any problems which come up in the course of dormitory life.

Having inherited the great tradition of the Suffragette movement and trying to further the cause, the distaff side of the college guides the destinies of all the young ladies of Monican Centre. While the council acts as a check on the activities of the girls it also intercedes for them with the administration.

Time apart from books and notes . . . student with student . . . the clock tolls moments of delight. Kick up heels . . . shake off blues . . . to each his time to dance. The tempos of excitement and rhythm of the Autumn Interlude. Winter Carnival. and Dinner Dance quicken the minutes and soar in my memory. Time stops, I fly . . . disregard the clock, and cling to that midnight hour.

Here's a typical happy group enjoying themselves at the Autumn Interlude. This is one of the extremely rare occasions when we can find Paul with his mouth closed. Maybe he likes to pose even more than he likes to talk!

Don't worry, baby! When you're with me you can't lose, especially since one of the judges is Lebanese!

Autumn Interlude

Autumn Interlude

The mighty bull of PKT storms through the camps amid the flashing lights and tremendous excitement of the Pep Rally.

◀ Handsome and debonaire Chuck Wennogle leads beautiful Maureen Brennan down the stairs at the Andover Country Club to eventual victory in the contest for Queen. I hope that's five dollar's worth of praise, Chuck.

Bob Regan, the "mastermind" of the Pep Rally, shouts encouragement to the sore-throated mob. Bob deserves all the credit we can give him for his fine performance.

As you can see, no stone was left unturned and no building was left uncovered with signs urging the teams on to victory.

Pep Rally

The cup of victory displays the feelings that were evident throughout the Pep Rally and much credit is due to all of the organizations which took part.

Winter Weekend

The finalists in the Winter Weekend Queen contest line up to exhibit their beautiful dresses and handsome escorts. We don't envy the judges their job of choosing a queen from such a regal gathering.

Johnny Nash holds the crowd spellbound as he "belts out" another great tune from his amazing repertoire. Many believe that this concert was the high point of the entire weekend.

Fred Urban presents the trophy symbolic of the Snow Sculpture championship to Joe Buck of S.B.K. Fred seems reluctant to part with it, however.

Father Burt "sidles up to the bar" and watches the youngsters dance away the night at the semi-formal dance held at Freedmans in Lawrence.

Winter Weekend is always one of the most successful events at Merrimack and this year it proved to be no exception. Though lack of snow dampened all pre-weekend forecasts, we all breathed a sigh of relief when we rose on Saturday to find a fresh blanket of the white stuff. The spirit of excitement, gaiety, and frivolity extended throughou the outdoor events and even penetrated the walls of the auditorium during the concert. Thanks to the efforts of Fred Urban, Pat O'Brien and the Winter Weekend Committee we all enjoyed ourselves immensely.

Jim and Ruth Ann seem to be enjoying themselves as they dance that magical waltz after Ruth Ann was named Queen of the Winter Weekend.

Neither snow, nor rain, nor sleet, nor even broken bones can stop our mighty Merrimack Warriors from frolicking at the Winter Weekend. Maybe Bob could use the crutches.

Leonardo da Wennogle, world famous caricaturist and master of the snow job, applies the finishing touches to S.B.K.'s entry in the Snow Sculpture contest.

Ruth Ann Carleton, our Queen, receives her crown from last year's winner, Bernice Barnaby. Ann Neelon and Anita Coffey complete this beautiful foursome.

Winter Weekend 1964 proved to be the high point of the social year. Starting with an excellent semi-formal dance on Friday night, things never quieted down all during Saturday's skiing, snow sculpturing, fashion show, basketball game, and concert. These pictures show a camera's eye view of some of the proceedings and from the looks of them we can tell that everyone wishes we could have Winter Weekend every weekend.

A lull . . . the crescendoing activity of busy schedules temporarily culminates in silence. I retreat into the infinity of my soul where there is no time. My awareness of God is increased through a re-emphasis of His presence. After meditation my renewed perspective points chaos into direction and soon my counted existence begins again.

This is a scene from one of the very popular Dialogue Masses in which the students actually participate by responding aloud to the priest. This form of prayer is extremely beneficial to the student since he can more fully realize the greatness of the event transpiring in front of him.

On the Merrimack campus, religion plays a very important role. Under the direction of our chaplains, Rev. Donald X. Burt, O.S.A. and Rev. Robert Wesson, O.S.A. the religious program is both interesting and varied. Besides the daily Masses, there are also weekly discussion groups and other such activities. The highpoint of the religious year is the annual Retreat, given by the Augustinians' best retreat masters.

Father Burt stops typing for a minute to gather his thoughts as he prepares his commentary on the death of our great President John F. Kennedy. It was a sobering blow to the whole campus and made everyone realize more fully that we all must always be spiritually prepared to meet our Creator.

This is a scene taken during the annual Retreat and shows the priest presiding over one of the conferences. It is a time to re-examine one's spiritual assets and liabilities.

Dribbling into the forecourt, faking left, driving right, banking a two pointer off the boards, this is a portrait of the Merrimack Warrior.

The team, playing at times on sheer talent and yet at other times on complete desire, reeled off three victories to capture a third consecutive Babson Invitational Tournament and soared into their best season yet.

"Wilt the Stilt" couldn't get up high enough to block this one by co-captain Jack Erickson.

Swish! Another Warrior basket; up by a point—a minute to go. What next? Does Howie drive and throw in a short jumper? Does Jack hit from the top of the key? Will Leo leap over all and shove it through the hoop? Must Chuck simply fake them out and hit from off balance or will Frank just bull through for a simple layup? Will Ron outrun the opposition for the ball? Can the second team hold the lead? Of course, seeing is believing.

"What a guy has to do to keep his scholarship," says co-captain Howie Smith as he lays one up and in.

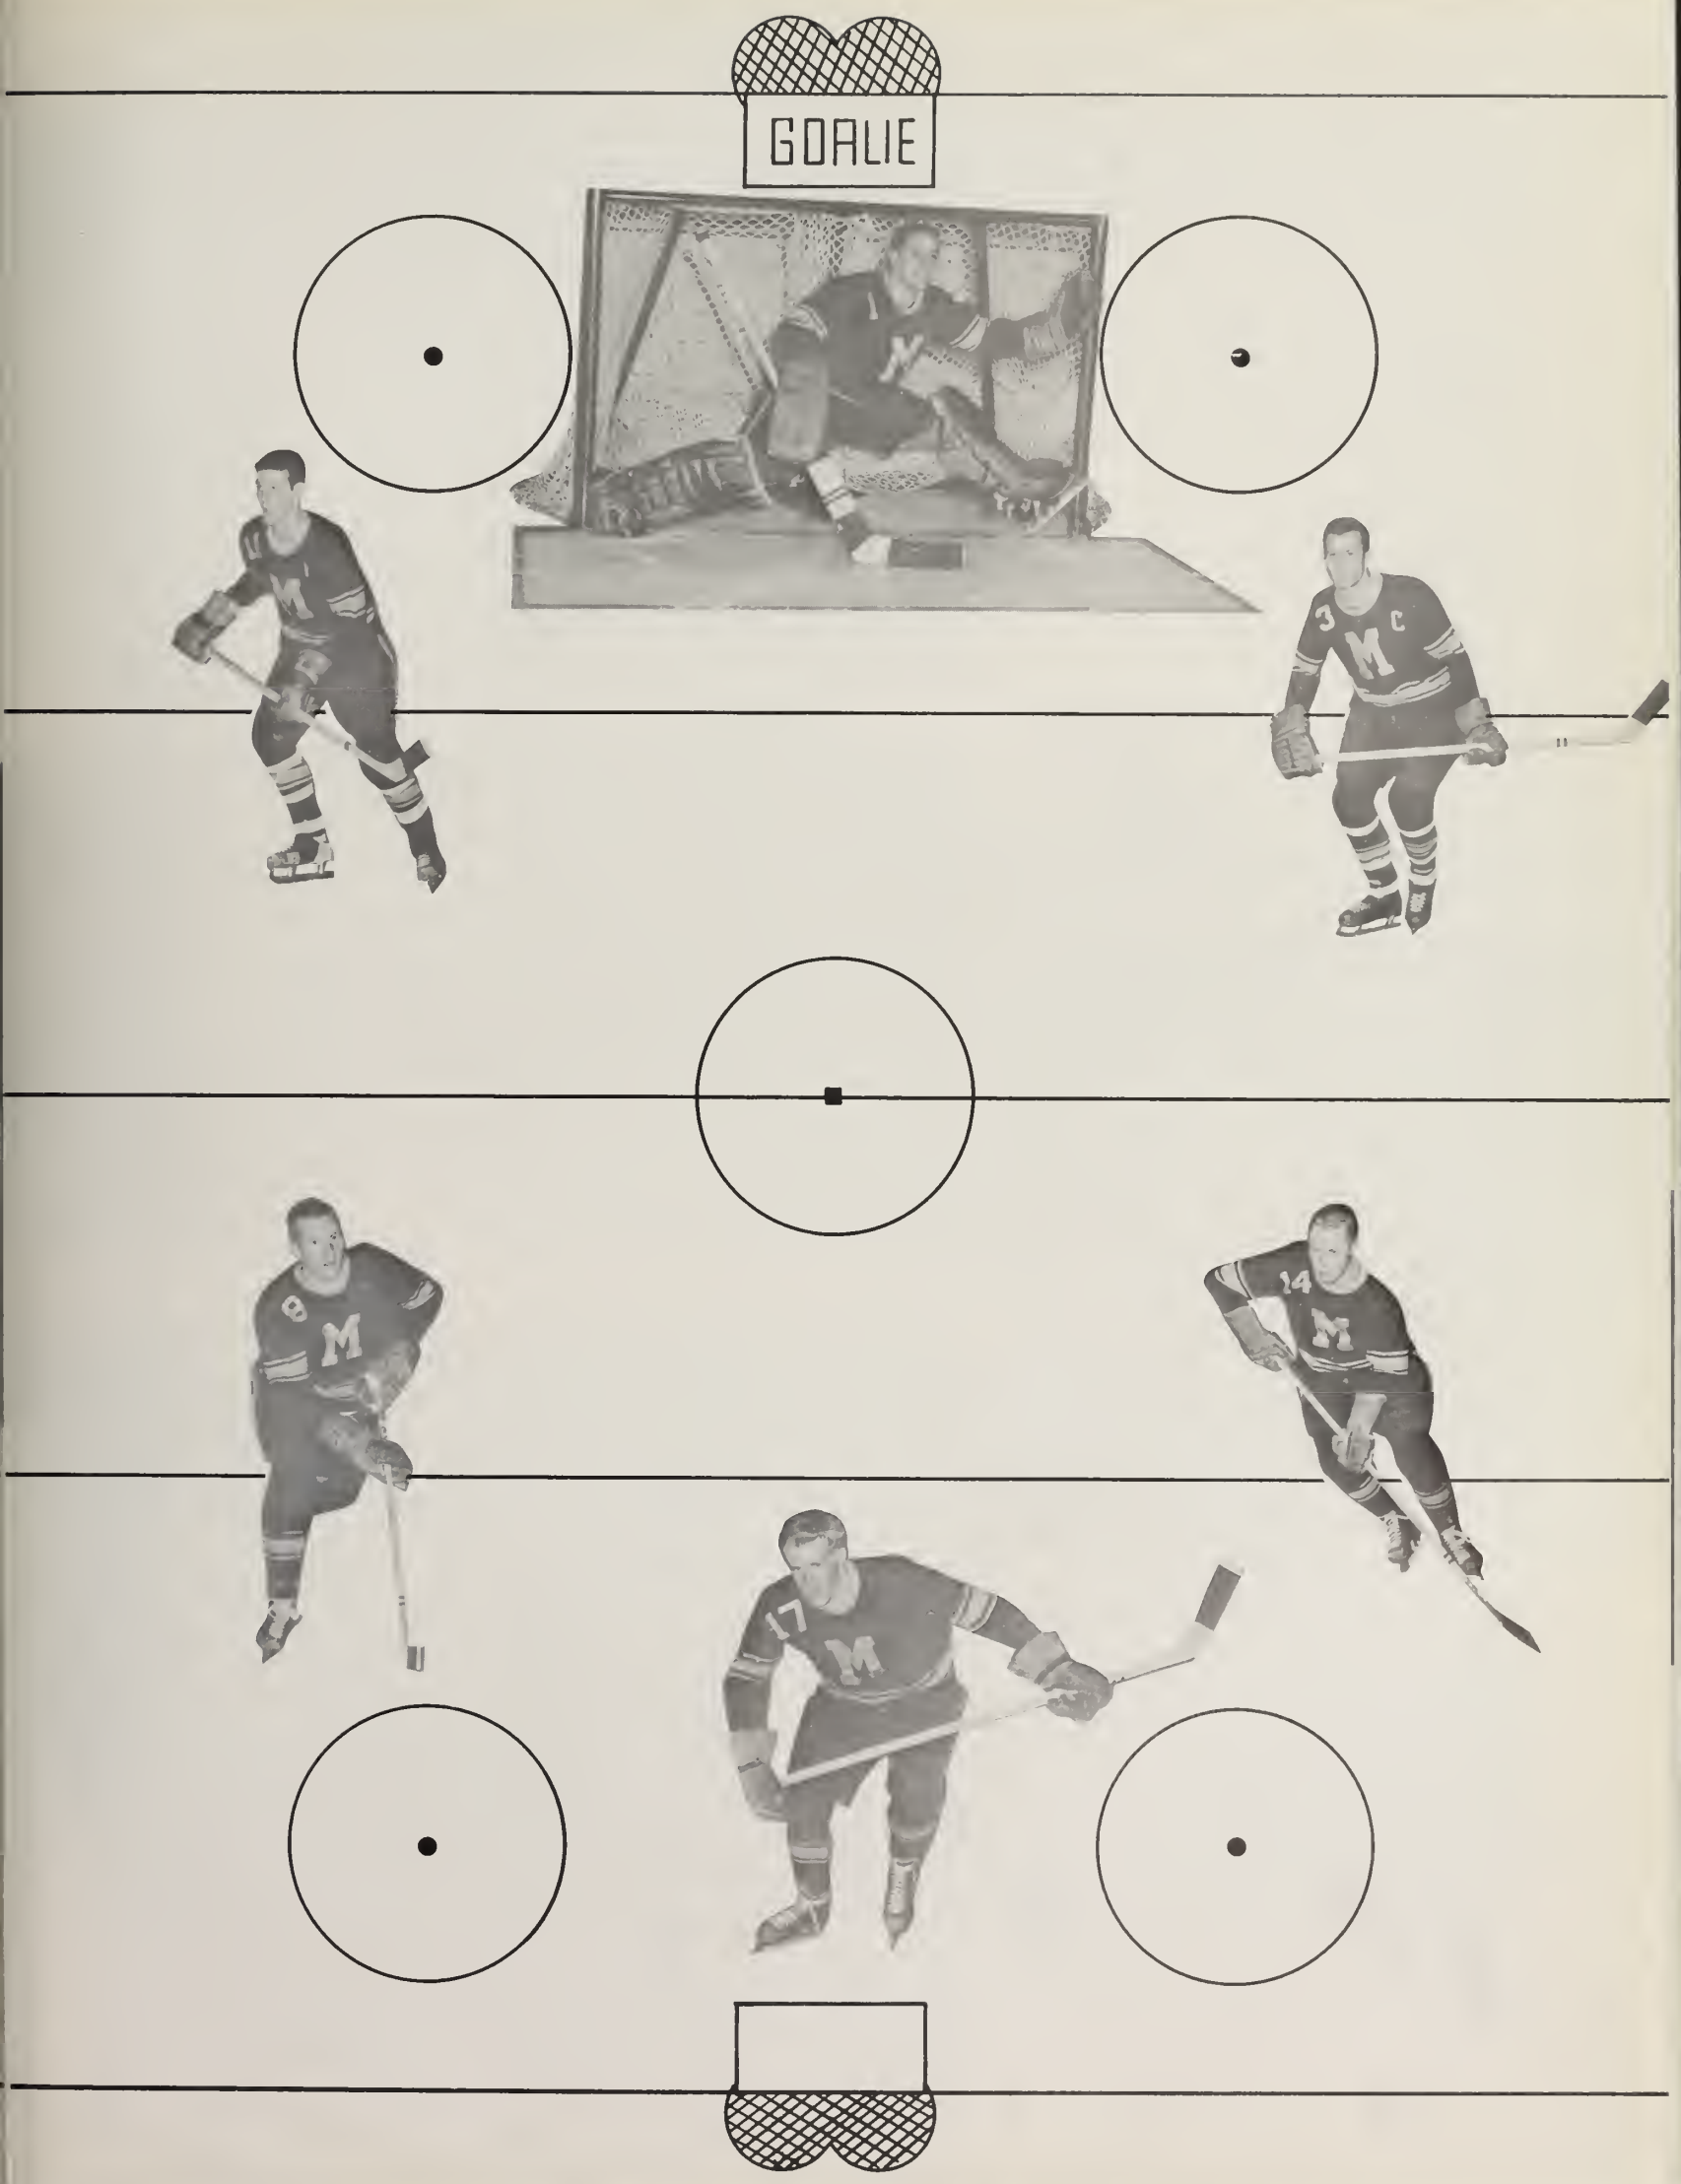
This season Merrimack combined its skaters in such a fashion as to form one of the most successful teams yet. Consequently this year a tribute is given to our fine Seniors and Junior goalie Paul Downey (page 101).

Equal recognition is due to the remaining members of the squad and in particular to the excellent debut of our Sophomores.

Sophomore Rusty Harnish displays his speed and agility on the blades as he beats the U.N.H. defenseman.



GOALIE

The "Bear," Paul Downey, holds the near post as Ron Erikson charges after the loose puck. "Bear" is a Junior and has done an excellent job in tending the Warriors' net.

Louie Thibeault rides the opponent out of the play while his linemate, Bill Mahoney, skates in to take the puck. The team play exemplified here has been typical of this season.

They all yelled, "Look out, Buzz, you're going to get nailed!" But it was unnecessary as Buzzy Miller, once again, proved his adroitness in avoiding this 180-pounder.

There are not many who make it through our tight defense of co-captains, Tom Keeling and Frank Pollard, as is evidenced by Frank's fine maneuvering on this U.N.H. player.

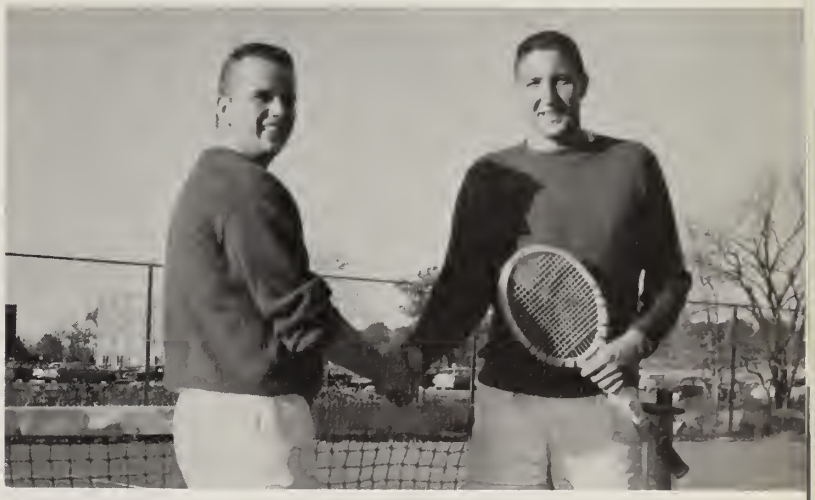
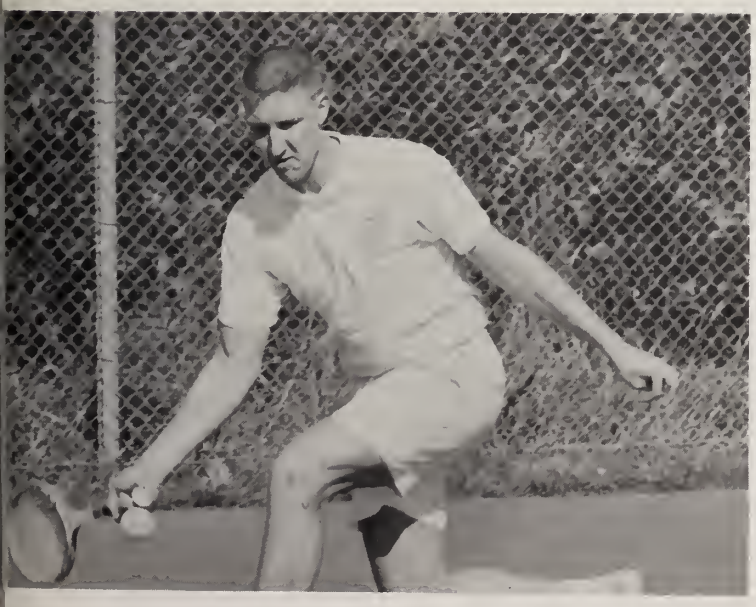
Tennis

Tennis on Merrimack's campus is gaining more and more popularity. The Warriors had an exceptionally good season last spring finishing with an 8-1 record and beating teams of such calibre as Brandeis, Providence, Stonehill, St. Anselm's, Plymouth, Lowell Tech and Assumption.

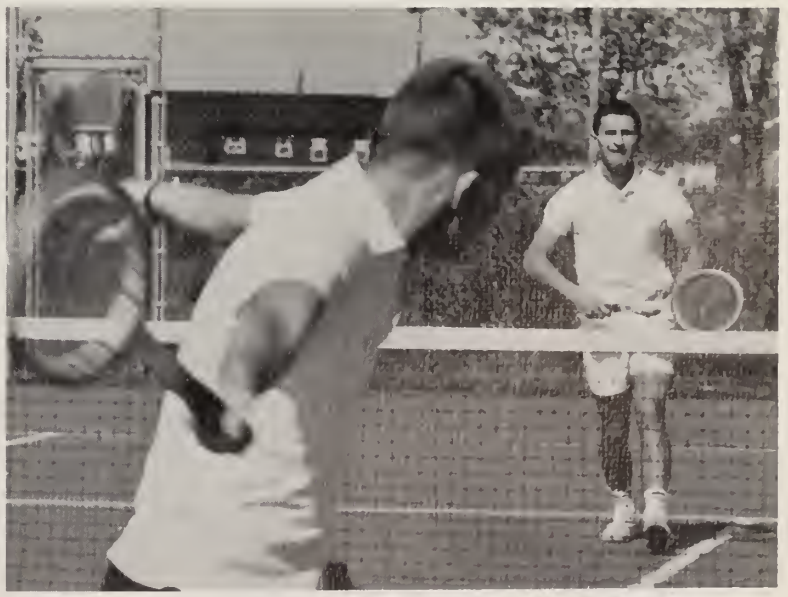
With three returning veterans, Dick Fournier, Hank Smith and Ed Walsh, along with many promising underclassmen the team is sure of a successful season.

Hank Smith congratulates Dick Fournier on winning a tough three-setter in the College Open Tournament final. This Annual Fall Tournament is open to faculty alumni and students.





Dick Fournier tenses as he takes a cross-court forehand shot on the run. Dick is a junior and this is his second year as the number "one" player in the school.



Lou Thibeault displays his talent as he charges the net to return Wes Thornton's accurate forehand volley.

Five veterans are returning this year after a very successful schedule last season. Under the supervision of coach La Rochelle, the team won the 1963 Babson Invitational Golf Tournament. Their finesse around the greens as well as their accurate driving helped lead the Warriors to another victorious season.

Jack Oleks and George Scollin watch Pete Conway following through after hitting an approach to the green. Pete has been a major cog in the Blue and Gold machine.

Co-Captain Frank Romano welcomes Father Kamide as the new and enthusiastic moderator of the ski team.

The 1964 ski season marked Merrimack's third year as a member of the New England Intercollegiate Ski Association. This year the Warriors faced Amherst, Harvard, Lowell Tech, Princeton, Brown and Bently College. The Warriors' fine performance in this keen competition was due to the constant effort of Co-Captains Frank Romano and Peter Richard.

Heading out for the starting line for a Hexagonal event at Tufts are Bob Dannenberg and Ann Henwood. We won this event by two points over the host.

This season the sailing team regained the Associate Member Championship of the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association from Connectient. Stonehill and New Hampshire also entered. This victory qualified the Warriors to compete in the Schell Trophy Fall Intersectional Invitational against such teams as Georgetown and Ohio State.

Intramurals

John McGuire "snags one" as Wayne Lindy is poised to strike. This play put S.B.K. deep into Crusader territory in the Championship game.

Pete Firla pursues the elusive Paul Sweeney in the mud and grime. Both of these boys characterize the fierce desire and untiring determination exhibited throughout the season by all of the competing teams.

Leo Majeski heads downfield on one of the patented runs that made him one of the outstanding quarterbacks in the league.

Quarterback Rick Cumberland attempts to sweep the end against the hard rush put on by Vic Geiger and Larry Murray in the final playoff game between the Crusaders and S.B.K.

This year's intramural football league was the most successful to date, thanks to the dedication and hard work of Pete Duncan and "Doc" Royal. It provided an atmosphere alive with moments of excitement, joy and despair. The spirit of keen competition developed a code of good sportsmanship in all the participants and has been an enriching experience for all who have been associated with the sport.

Competition is high and all participants display the aggressiveness as well as the sportsmanship characterizing the American athlete. The Crusaders and the Kaps fight for the rebound, exemplifying once again the enthusiasm with which our intramural program sustains itself.

Interest in the intramural basketball league hit a new high this year as over twenty teams registered for competition. Interfraternity rivalry, the drive for playoff positions, and the post-season games commanded keen spectator enthusiasm.

Better than one out of every five male students participate in intramural basketball. Yet this is only one third of the annual intramural schedule. This is but one reason why we hold our intramural system in such high esteem.

Towards the spring the students look forward to action on the diamond. Here, Gino Rozzi tags one of Stan Wilk's fast balls in a P.K.T.-Untouchables game.

Mike, Tom and Brian work out P.K.T.'s strategy. It was P.K.T.'s constant eflorts and planning which enabled them to take the title.

This popular scene on Merrimack's campus pictures Mike Twomey taking a full swing as he is watched by his teammates.

SENIORS

Seniors, consummate in achievement and ability, once bending in the torrent of activity, now tall in the sunshine of fulfillment . . . my theme is memory. The years of cultivation . . . registrations, meetings, final exams . . . rushing to gather it all. Behind, lies a record of accomplishments and rewards won, echoing tunes of "Hail fellow well met." Ahead, a time of responsibility. These shared hours have been the essence of a very special lifetime, but that phase has ended and each must stand alone. Now in my own image I face the future ready to act.

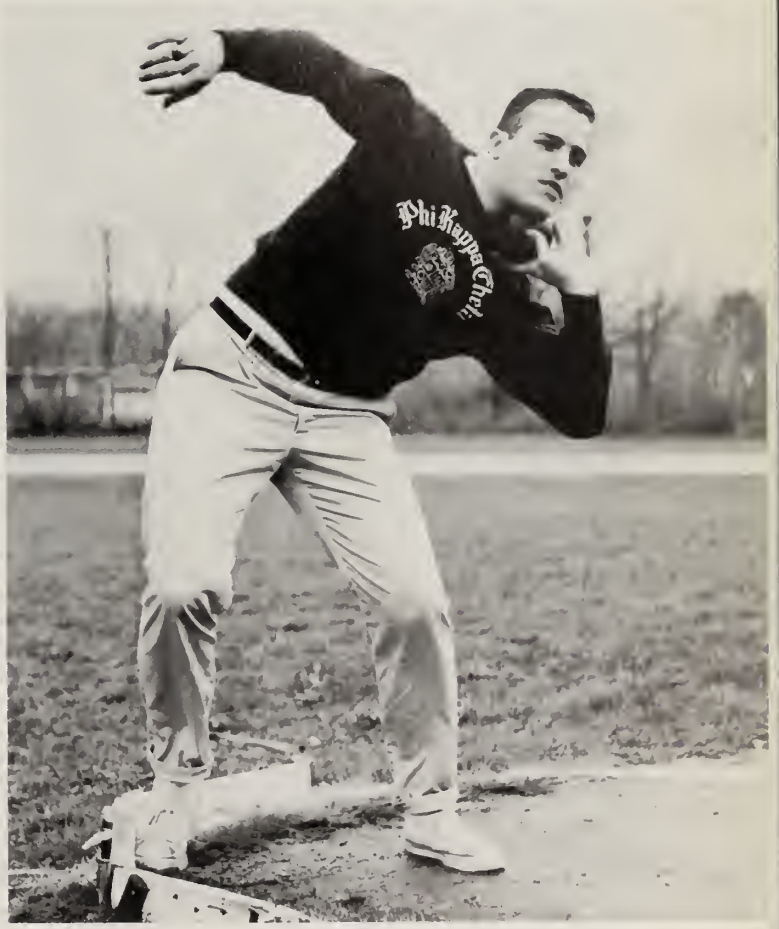
A special night indeed during Junior Week was that of the Ring Blessing ceremony. Here we see Junior Class moderator Father Medina sprinkling the Holy Water on the rings of his students.

Father McQuade seems to appreciate Tom Doyle's technique as the Junior Class president plants the traditional tree on Dedication Day. Father Medina, Student Council chairman Kathleen Carroll, officers and top ten students of the class of '64 look on.

Junior Week

Junior Week, traditionally one of the most exciting weeks on the school calendar, was better than ever this past year due in no small way to the diligent work of the Junior Class officers who, with the cooperation of all the members of the class of '64, succeeded in producing the most memorable string of continuous activities in the history of the college.

Co-eds Day brings out all sorts of colorful sights but none so eye-catching as this tribe of beautiful Indian princesses who "lit up" the cafeteria even without starting the fire.



The shot didn't really land in Lawrence, as P.K.T.'s "Daddy of the Year," George Corkery, would have us believe.

"How many times must I tell you, Carol, that if you want to get "high-up" in this world you have to pull strings?"

Arthur and Katherine Murray have nothing on Gerry and Ann as they show how it's done at the Junior Prom. ▶

From the size of the bouquet, Tom, I'd guess that the Yearbook treasury was a few dollars short.

Just two more pictures, Linda, and I promise to dance. I must satisfy my public, you know.

Sue May, Queen of the '63 Junior Prom, accepts the roses of royalty from the '62 Queen, Tori Walsh.

Class Officers

The chief reason for the success of the class of '64 was its intelligent selection of officers. A senior class needs strong, forceful and unselfish people at its control and these qualities could not be any more evident than in President Joe Chamberlain, Vice-President Claire Toner, Secretary Mary Shine and Treasurer Paul Bavilacqua. It is to these people that we give our utmost thanks and owe our deepest loyalty.

I'll see that and raise you another fifty gum drops.

And my group had forty-three percent fewer cavities after two years.

Patty cake, patty cake, baker's man . . .

If that isn't the strangest basketball uniform I ever saw!

It looks as though Eileen was caught sneaking out the door. The class wasn't that boring, was it, Eileen?

At our next meeting we'll discuss NATO. Panama, Red China and East Germany.

Hey! Did you ever hear Kate Smith at 78 RPM? She sounds just like Donald Duck.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges has accepted twenty members of the class of 1964 for nationwide recognition. These students recognized by the organization were first officially recommended by Merrimack College.

The campus nominating committee in making its selection considered the student's scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, his citizenship, service to the College, and his promise of future influence.

You've got to be kidding!

Big Chief Warrior checks over his tribe before giving the signal to attack.

Did you ever notice the holes in this ceiling?

My feet are killing me! Let's go outside for a cigarette.

Mirror, mirror, on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?

Who'll be the first to blink?

The money's no good, but the atmosphere is nice inside.

Of course I don't mind if you send your roommate down instead!

Time's Up

A Time To Mourn . . .

. . . In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility—I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world . . .

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a man who understood the value of time. He was conscious that this was an era of change in the American experiment, time for one to ask of what value he could be to his country, rather than what the country could do for him.

It is not in every generation that one is asked to spend himself entirely for a value, and John Fitzgerald Kennedy has left us with a memory of his death that shall stand forever as a monument to his life. The eternal flame that burns above his grave can truly light the world. It remains for us to assure that no one can ever hide from this glow.

In the production of a yearbook representative of Merrimack College, a great deal of work is done behind the scenes by people who go unnoticed and sometimes, unfortunately, unthanked. We would like to take this opportunity to offer our sincere gratitude to the following:

Mr. Leonard DeSimone, Moderator; We thank you for always urging us onward and for providing the much-needed check on our sometimes extravagant proposals.

Mr. John Ursprung, Jr., of William T. Cooke Publishing, Inc.; We thank you very much for your patience with us and for the solutions you provided for some of our so-called "impossible" problems.

Loring Studios; We thank the many people at Loring's who gave their best to provide us with the finest quality pictures.

The 1964 Merrimacken Staff; I personally thank you for giving of your time and talent to make sure we had the finest yearbook possible. Due solely to the efforts of such tireless workers as Eileen Jennings, Bob Keon, Ed O'Leary, Milli Matasso, Paul Hoar, Peg Gunning and especially Joe Chamberlain and Tom Doyle, I believe we have succeeded.
